Gerry Nagler

Gerry Nagler

Director of Marketing
Telesat

Gerry Nagler is a satellite industry veteran with more than 15 years' experience. He is one of the few to have held senior positions in both the mobile satellite (MSS) and fixed satellite (FSS) sectors.

Nagler started with COMSAT Corp. in the 1980s and worked in business development and strategic planning roles. His projects included the privatization of Inmarsat, and COMSAT's eventual merger with Lockheed Martin Corporation.

At Telesat, Nagler develops and manages programs to help maximize utilization on the existing fleet. He also is involved in evaluating new business opportunities to help Telesat add scale. Nagler is frequently contacted for his views about the satellite services market by leading analysts and research groups. He has been widely published and spoken on satellite industry topics around the world.
